"A Minute with Sheriff Murphy"

- If you did not initiate a phone call to a business/company, do not provide any personal information over the phone. Personal information that is frequently sought includes account numbers, passwords, date of birth, maiden name, or your social security number.
- Avoid clicking on links provided in emails, as they may redirect you to fraudulent sites seeking to defraud you.
- If you believe you may be a victim of a fraudulent act, alert your bank and credit card companies. You should monitor your account statements closely, and you may request a fraud alert to be added to your accounts.
